ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The International Paediatric Brain Injury Society (IPBIS) is pleased to announce that the Sixth Biennial International Conference on Paediatric Acquired Brain Injury will be held April 29-May 2, 2026, in the dynamic city of Calgary in Alberta, Canada!

As the leading international conference on the topic of paediatric brain injury, this event builds on the success of IPBIS's prior conferences held in Liverpool (2015), Rome (2017), Belfast (2018), New York (2022) and Glasgow (2024).

The Conference will focus on the development of innovative treatments, rehabilitation programs, support mechanisms and ways to improve the lives and potential of young people affected by brain injury. The educational program will be inclusive of all issues relating to pediatric brain injury, both traumatic (e.g., external physical force injuries, penetrating injuries) and atraumatic (e.g., epilepsy, infectious diseases, tumours, stroke, neurotoxic poisonings, etc.).

EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES

The Scientific Planning Committee is developing a broad educational program that will address a wide range of brain injury topics, including:

- The epidemiology of acquired brain injuries in children and adolescents from a world health care perspective,
- Evidence-based research regarding the nature and efficacy of medical, clinical and educational rehabilitation of acquired brain injuries in children and adolescents,
- The varied causes of ABI in childhood, including medical conditions and non-accidental traumatic injuries,
- Resources to support families affected by paediatric ABI, towards affecting change at national and international levels,
- Models of innovative systems, services and supports for children with ABI and their families, and
- How to better recognize, manage and treat mTBI/concussions in children/adolescents.

Teeming with history, nightlife, and cultural attractions, the dynamic city of Calgary has something for everyone!

WHO WILL ATTEND?

The Conference will bring together multidisciplinary professionals from across the globe with an interest in improving outcomes for children, adolescents, and young adults with acquired brain injury and their families/carers.

Attendees will be comprised of physicians, neuropsychologists, therapists, allied health professionals, and brain injury advocates. This list is not exhaustive and the organizers expect all multidisciplinary professionals involved in paediatric brain injury will benefit from this valuable opportunity to engage with experts, gain insights, and establish new collaborations.

CONFERENCE FORMAT

The Conference will feature a number of lively sessions and lectures on key specialty areas over a three day period. The educational format will include plenary talks, concurrent tracks for oral presentations, symposia, panels and poster sessions.
